JROTC is one of the Pentagon's primary recruitment tools. San Franciscans do not want military recruiters in our schools.

JROTC discriminates. There are no openly gay or lesbian JROTC instructors. All retired military officers are selected by the Pentagon under "Don't Ask, Don't Tell." LGBT cadets are denied enlistment benefits that others get.

JROTC costs San Francisco school district taxpayers nearly $1 million per year. We can find better ways to spend our money. A leadership development course with community service is already in place to provide a non-military alternative to JROTC.

The No on V campaign is endorsed by the SF Democratic Party, the Harvey Milk LGBT Democratic Club, the SF Labor Council and the Bay Guardian, among many others. The Republican Party, the Chamber of Commerce, the Association of Realtors, and military organizations around the country are the chief financial supporters of Proposition V.

On election day, after years of war in Iraq, the people of San Francisco will declare that military recruitment targeting children as young as 14 is simply wrong.
